In announcing this special series Dr. Radcliffe has sent a letter to the communicants of New York Avenue Church in which he says:

"Grace be to you through Jesus Christ, our Lord and Master.

"I congratulate you upon the blessing promise of the church year just closed. Notwithstanding the varied and continued stress interjected into our individual church work by the exceptional and importunate demands from without and abroad, our work has advanced in every direction, and the life of the church was never so healthy, harmonious and hopeful. It is a fine record! We approach our Easter communion with high inducement to thanksgiving and consecration.

"The observance of this sacrament upon the Thursday evening preceding Easter day in special commemoration of its institution has already become established and honored by us. Let it have renewed emphasis and blessing this year. Control your social and business arrangements that you may have some part in the preparatory services in the days preceding its observance. Secure some time at home for devotional reading and thought. Make the Paschal feast significant for yourself, your household and your own church. Make it a time of recall, repentance and reconciliations. Let no slight hindrance prevent your presence. Realize the reality and meaning of communion that the service may have for you the sense and exercise of fellowship with the members of this church as well as with the Master of the feast.

Bishop Schrembs has a plan for popularising plain chant, which contemplates the introduction into the parochial schools of graded readers of plain chant, so that the boys and girls may learn the first principles of this form of church music and their teachers be of church music and their teachers be enabled in this manner to start a prac-tical propaganda for its restoration.
